

Life Purpose Test

by Jane Johnson, President of Contribute Your Wealth and the International Life Purpose Institute

Tick the statements that apply to you and then count your score. Read the analysis at the end.

- I have a motivating statement that defines my purpose in life and helps me make decisions
- I am clear about making career decisions, as I know where I want to go
- I look forward to going to work.
- I talk about my work in a positive way.
- Money is not the driving force in deciding my next career move.
- I am passionate about the contribution I am making
- I am learning from, and enjoy working with, my team or co-workers.
- I feel excited about my upcoming projects, as they engage me creatively.
- I am self-motivated and generate much of my “to do” list.
- I feel positive about my future job prospects.
- I know where I’d like to be in five years.
- I know where I’d like to be in one year.
- I’m being compensated fairly.
- I know what environment I like to work in
- I know the sorts of people, issues, causes or roles I like to work in

SCORING KEY:

12-15 Points:

Wow. Congratulations, you love your work and have a clear direction of where you are going! Never stop improving. Continue to make sure you are staying on the right path and not compromising your values or direction

8-11 Points:

You're doing well; this is a very good score. Maybe a little more clarity would help to keep you on the right track. Seek out material or maybe work with a coach to keep you going.

4-7 Points:

You're doing okay, but there's room for improvement. I think you would benefit from getting more clarity to help you make clear decisions in your life and give you true fulfillment. My Home Study course on Finding Your Life Purpose may be ideal to help you on this journey, available from the website <http://www.internationallifepurposeinstitute.com/products.htm>

0-3 Points:

There's work to do. Consider taking a career assessment and/or working with a career coach to help you clarify your career goals. Know that many have successfully transitioned to careers and jobs they love. Consider my Home Study Course on "Finding your Life Purpose", available from the website <http://www.internationallifepurposeinstitute.com/products.htm>
